

Why is it we always see that, a break of key lows just before an attack...

